Foods

Vietnam is very well-known in Asia as a great food destination with a variety of recipes and diversity of natural spices. To better suit all tastes, we have two options

➤ To put set menu on every (or some) meal/s on trip. The menus normally are well chosen by Viet Vision Travel. In order to change the dinner taste, we change from one meal to another to avoid repeated food.

➤ Clients would like to have meal on their own. Viet Vision Travel can be your culinary guide and provide you the opportunity to savor tempting local food and world-famous dishes.

If you have any specific food requirements (vegetarian, vegan, food allergies) please inform us in advance so that we can provide notice to our restaurant, tour guide or our partners so that they can server you better. If you are a food lover,

Note: breakfast is included in most hotels, unless requested but to make sure there have good, safe food, we arrange meals when the tours are operating through remote, non tourist areas.

Vietnam's Destinations

North of Vietnam

Hanoi

Hanoi is one of the most beguiling cities in Southeast Asia. It's slow-paced yet quick to charm, with a lovely landscape of lakes, shaded boulevards, verdant public parks and French-colonial architecture. Hanoi personifies the spirit of historic Vietnam in the temples, monuments and pockets of ancient culture along the narrow streets of the Old Quarter, yet perfectly reflects the rapid changes sweeping the country as Hanoi Yuppies sip cappuccinos in roadside cafes and compare cell phones.

North East of Vietnam

Ha Long Bay

Ha Long Bay is one of the world's natural wonders, and is the most beautiful tourist destination in Vietnam. Ha Long Bay features more than one thousand awesome limestone karsts and islands of various sizes and shapes. Its waters are host to a great diversity of ecosystems including offshore coral reefs, freshwater swamp forests, mangrove forests, small freshwater lakes, and sandy beaches. Several islands boast beautiful grottos and caves with contiguous chambers, hidden ponds and peculiar stone formations

North West Vietnam

Sa Pa

Sapa is one of the great tourist attractions, with an attitude 1600 m above sea level, located close by Chinese border, it is one of the most beautiful tourist destinations in northwest of Vietnam, and from here visitors can continue their adventure journey to explore many beautiful untouched regions in the surrounding area.

Visitors to Sa Pa will have chances to discover the unique customs of the local residents by trekking on long buffalo trails through the many ethnic minority villages that are located on mountain side surrounded by amazing terrace fields and for taking home stays in the area

Sa Pa is also the starting point for many climbers who want to reach the top of Fansipan Mountain, the highest mountain in Vietnam at 3,143m.

Center of Vietnam

Phong Nha – Ke Bang National Park

Phong Nha – Ke Bang National Park is a World Natural Heritage Site located in Quang Binh Province. There is a system of dozens of grottos and caves, with a total length of nearly 100km. Many grottos have been just marked on maps but not thoroughly surveyed. Only some have been invested to serve tourism. The complex also consists of the Phong Nha – Ke Bang National Park covering an area of 85,754 hectares, of which 90% are primitive or semi-primitive forests. With the natural beauty and the original customs and practices of local communities, it has become the most attractive site in Quang Binh.

Hue former Capital City

Hue served as Vietnam's capital under the emperors of the Nguyen Dynasty from 1802 to 1945 and is arguably the most beautiful city in Vietnam. The city's regal past can still be seen today inside the walls of the Citadel and the war ravaged Imperial City. Now thanks to UNESCO and Vietnamese government funding, much of the old City is being faithfully restored to its former glory.

Further echoes of the Imperial age can be found in the surrounding countryside. Here several of the tombs of former Emperors can be found. A boat trip on the Perfume River is definitely worthwhile. Along the way you can stop at the Thien Mu or Heavenly Lady Pagoda an active Buddhist monastery whose origins date back to 1601. Apart from beautiful sightseeing sites, Hue offers excellent Vietnamese cuisines

Hoi An Old Town & Cua Dai Beach

Located 30 km south of Danang, Hoi An ancient town lies on the banks of the Thu Bon River. It has a distinct Chinese atmosphere with low, tile-roofed houses and narrow streets; the original structure of some of these streets still remains almost intact. All the houses were made of rare wood, decorated with lacquered boards and panels engraved with Chinese characters. Pillars were also carved with ornamental designs. Over the last few years, Hoi An has become a very popular tourist destination in Vietnam.

Cua Dai beach is located about 5 kilometers away from the town of Hoi An. It boasts fine white sand, clear blue water, moderate slopes and small waves, which make it ideal for recreational activities like swimming and other sea sports. The beach stands out with restaurants and many luxury resorts. Cua Dai is truly an ideal place for a beach vacation in the center of Vietnam

My Son Holy Land

My Son Holy Land is 69 Kilometers south-west of Da Nang. It was a worshiping place of the Champa kingdom, a centre for spirituality and worship between the 4th and the 12th centuries. My Son Sanctuary,

Vietnam has been listed as a World Heritage site as well, for its exemplification of the height of Cham architectural achievement and hence is one of the top Vietnam tourist attractions. An interesting day trip to My Son could be arranged from either Hoi An or Da Nang

Nha Trang

The city of Nha Trang is becoming more popular with the tourists in recent years. This resort town is well known for its miles of beach and the friendliness of its people. The city is flanked by nearly ten kilometers of prime beach where the water is warm year round. The average temperature in Nha Trang is 26°C/78°F. Nha Trang also has the lowest level of humidity in all of Vietnam. Nha Trang has several famous islands; most notable are Hon Tre, Hon Yen, Hon Rua and the Spratly islands.

Mui Ne- Phan Thiet

With a beautiful beach and an ever-growing strip of resorts lining the coast, Mui Ne strikes a good balance between having sufficient entertainment to justify a long weekend and being overcrowded. The resorts lie between the sea and the road, with many restaurants lining the opposite side of the road. Fortunately the majority of the resorts are low rise and well covered by plenty of lush green foliage - most have tried hard to create attractive gardens around their bungalows, and the result is that from the beach there is not too much evidence of the booming growth in hotels - it still manages to look secluded and peaceful, without a concrete block in sight.

Center Highland of Vietnam

The Central Highlands are renowned for their cool climate, beautiful mountain scenery and innumerable streams, lakes and waterfalls. The region is also home to several ethnic minorities. It covers the southern part of Truong Son mountain range including the provinces of Lam Dong, Dac Lac, Gia Lai, Kon Tum.

Da Lat – The City of Eternal Spring

Da Lat is commonly known as 'the City of Eternal Spring', which has made it popular destinations for holiday. The average temperature is 17°C/62°F, and does not exceed 25°C/75°F in the hottest season. It provides most of the flowers and vegetables for the massive southern markets. Da Lat is also very well-known for many types of orchids as well as its pine forests. Travelers who have been away for a long time find it a very familiar climate.

South of Vietnam

Ho Chi Minh City

Ho Chi Minh City is a fast-paced city full of contrasts such as street vendors selling fruit and vegetables seen next to glitzy western-style bars and boutiques. Today Ho Chi Minh City is very much the heart of Vietnamese business and entrepreneurialism. Incomes here are typically twice that of Hanoi and the city's skyline is rapidly changing, reflecting the sharp influx of foreign trade within the last decade. And yet for all this modernity the city still retains its connections to the past, particularly in Cholon, Saigon's Chinatown, where dozens of elegant temples and pagodas can be seen.

Tay Ninh & Cao Dai Temple

Tay Ninh, near the Cambodian border is home to the unique Cao Dai sect whose patron saints include Joan of Arc, Victor Hugo and Winston Churchill to name a few. Founded in the 1920s, the religion is an eclectic mix of Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism and Christianity and at one time had a very strong following in the rural area of the Mekong Delta. The temple's exterior is decorated with multi-colored dragons of all shapes and sizes competing for space with a number of Buddhist swastikas.

Cu Chi Tunnel

The Cu Chi Tunnels were pivotal to the Communist's victory over the Americans and the South Vietnamese Armies as they allowed the Viet Cong to control a large rural area around Saigon. Today the remaining tunnels have been widened to accommodate the larger western frame and have now become a major tourist attraction giving the visitor a unique experience of what underground life in the War of VIETNAMESE Unification must have been like and a deep appreciation of the courage and ingenuity of the Vietnamese people.

Mekong Delta

The Mekong Delta is often referred to as the rice bowl of Vietnam as it produces three harvests per year. The Mekong River begins its life in Tibet and travels 4,500km through six countries before eventually splitting into nine tributaries (Cuu Long in Vietnamese) and flowing into the East Sea of Vietnam. Because the plains are periodically flooded by the rising Mekong River traditional transportation is by boat along a vast network of canals.
